Once you've chosen the right Cricut machine for your needs, you can start creating your own designs.

The first step to creating a Cricut project is to create a design. You can create your own design using a variety of software programs, or you can download pre-made designs from the Cricut Design Space library.

If you're new to design, I recommend starting with a simple design. Once you've created your design, you can upload it to Cricut Design Space.

Once you've uploaded your design to Cricut Design Space, you can start cutting it out. To do this, you'll need to select your material and set your machine's settings.

Once you've set your machine's settings, you can start cutting your design. The Cricut machine will automatically cut out your design, and you'll be left with a finished product.
