Day 1

On your first day in New Orleans, start with a walk through the French Quarter. This historic neighborhood is home to some of the city's most famous landmarks, including Jackson Square, St. Louis Cathedral, and Preservation Hall. Be sure to stop for a beignet and café au lait at Café du Monde, a New Orleans institution.

In the afternoon, take a ride on the St. Charles Streetcar. This historic streetcar line runs through the Garden District, one of New Orleans' most beautiful neighborhoods. Along the way, you'll see some of the city's most stunning homes and gardens.

Day 2

Start your second day in New Orleans with a visit to the National World War II Museum. This world-class museum tells the story of the war from the American perspective. You'll see artifacts from the war, including uniforms, weapons, and vehicles. You'll also learn about the personal stories of the men and women who fought in the war.

In the afternoon, take a walking tour of the Treme neighborhood. This historic neighborhood is home to a vibrant African-American community. You'll see some of the city's most beautiful churches and homes, and you'll learn about the neighborhood's rich history.

End your day with a visit to the New Orleans Jazz Museum. This museum tells the story of jazz music in New Orleans. You'll see exhibits on the history of jazz, and you'll hear live jazz music every day.

Day 3

On your third day in New Orleans, start with a visit to the Ogden Museum of Southern Art. This museum houses a collection of over 4,000 works of art by Southern artists. You'll see paintings, sculptures, and photographs from the 18th century to the present day.

In the afternoon, take a swamp tour. This is a great way to see the unique ecosystem of the Louisiana bayou. You'll see alligators, turtles, and other wildlife, and you'll learn about the history and culture of the bayou.

End your day with a dinner at one of New Orleans' many seafood restaurants. Some of our favorites include Drago's Seafood Restaurant, Acme Oyster House, and Mr. B's Bistro.

Day 4

On your fourth day in New Orleans, start with a visit to the Audubon Zoo. This zoo is home to over 2,000 animals from around the world. You'll see lions, tigers, elephants, and gorillas, and you'll learn about the animals' natural habitats.

In the afternoon, take a walking tour of the Garden District. This historic neighborhood is home to some of the city's most beautiful homes and gardens. You'll see mansions, cottages, and live oak trees, and you'll learn about the neighborhood's rich history.

End your day with a visit to the Louisiana State Museum. This museum tells the story of Louisiana's history, from the Native Americans to the present day. You'll see exhibits on the state's politics, economy, and culture.

Day 5

On your fifth and final day in New Orleans, start with a visit to the French Market. This historic market is a great place to find souvenirs, food, and drinks. You'll find everything from handmade crafts to fresh produce to Cajun spices.

In the afternoon, take a cruise on the Mississippi River. This is a great way to see the city from a different perspective. You'll see the city's skyline, the riverfront warehouses, and the mighty Mississippi River.

End your day with a dinner at one of New Orleans' many fine restaurants. Some of our favorites include GW Fins, Tableau, and Cochon Butcher.

Tips for Planning Your Trip

* Book your hotel in advance. New Orleans is a popular tourist destination, so it's important to book your hotel in advance, especially if you're traveling during peak season. * Purchase a CityPASS. A CityPASS will give you admission to several of New Orleans' most popular attractions, including the National World War II Museum, the Ogden Museum of Southern Art, and the Audubon Zoo. * Get a map of the city. New Orleans is a large city, so it's helpful to have a map of the city so you can plan your itinerary. * Wear comfortable shoes. You'll be doing a lot of walking in New Orleans, so be sure to wear comfortable shoes. * Be prepared for the weather. New Orleans is a humid city, so be sure to dress appropriately. Bring sunscreen, a hat, and sunglasses, especially if you're visiting during the summer. * Have fun! New Orleans is a vibrant and exciting city, so be sure to relax and have fun.
