There are many stories that can inspire us to keep working towards a better future for Black people. Here are a few of them:

- The story of Harriet Tubman, who escaped from slavery and then risked her life to help hundreds of other slaves escape to freedom.
- The story of Frederick Douglass, who was born into slavery but became a leading abolitionist and statesman.
- The story of Rosa Parks, who refused to give up her seat on a bus to a white man, sparking the Montgomery bus boycott.

- The story of Martin Luther King, Jr., who led the civil rights movement and fought for equality for all.
- The story of Shirley Chisholm, who was the first Black woman elected to Congress.
- The story of Barack Obama, who was the first Black president of the United States.

These are just a few of the many stories that can inspire us to keep working towards a better future for Black people. Black Future Month is a time to celebrate these stories and to recommit to the work that still needs to be done.

Here are some ways that you can celebrate Black Future Month:

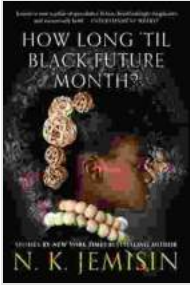

- Read books by Black authors.
- Watch movies and documentaries about Black history and culture.
- Attend events that celebrate Black culture.
- Support Black-owned businesses.
- Donate to organizations that are working to improve the lives of Black people.

Black Future Month is a time to celebrate the achievements of Black people and to envision a better future for all. Let us all recommit to the work that still needs to be done to create a more just and equitable world for all.
