Joel Sonnenberg is a renowned attorney who has been involved in some of the most significant legal battles in recent history. From representing victims of the 9/11 attacks to fighting for the rights of Guantanamo Bay detainees, Sonnenberg has dedicated his career to seeking justice for those who have been wronged.

Sonnenberg was born in Brooklyn, New York, in 1956. He attended Columbia University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in political science. He then went on to attend New York University School of Law, where he graduated magna cum laude. After graduating from law school, Sonnenberg worked as an associate at the law firm of Debevoise & Plimpton. In 1989, he founded his own law firm, Sonnenberg & Anderson, which specializes in civil rights and human rights litigation.

Sonnenberg's legal career has been marked by a series of high-profile cases. In the aftermath of the 9/11 attacks, Sonnenberg represented hundreds of victims and their families in lawsuits against the airlines and the government. He also represented Guantanamo Bay detainees in their habeas corpus petitions. In 2010, Sonnenberg was appointed by President Obama to serve on the Presidential Commission on Guantanamo Bay.

Sonnenberg's work has been recognized by numerous organizations. He has been named a "Legal Eagle" by the New York Law Journal and a "Top Lawyer" by the New York Times. He has also received the American Bar Association's Pro Bono Publico Award and the National Lawyers Guild's Human Rights Award.

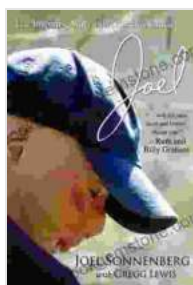

Sonnenberg is a passionate advocate for social justice. He believes that everyone deserves equal access to justice, regardless of their race, religion, or background. He is a tireless fighter for the rights of the voiceless and the oppressed.

Here are some of the most notable cases that Sonnenberg has been involved in:

- 9/11 attacks: Sonnenberg represented hundreds of victims and their families in lawsuits against the airlines and the government. He helped to secure billions of dollars in compensation for the victims and their families.
- Guantanamo Bay: Sonnenberg represented Guantanamo Bay detainees in their habeas corpus petitions. He helped to secure the release of several detainees and challenged the government's use of torture.
- Stop-and-frisk: Sonnenberg represented plaintiffs in a class-action lawsuit challenging the New York City Police Department's stop-and-frisk program. The lawsuit resulted in a settlement agreement that requires the NYPD to reform its stop-and-frisk practices.
- Voting rights: Sonnenberg represented the NAACP in a lawsuit challenging voter ID laws in North Carolina. The lawsuit resulted in a settlement agreement that requires North Carolina to make it easier for people to register to vote.

Sonnenberg is a highly skilled and experienced attorney who has dedicated his career to fighting for justice. He is a tireless advocate for the voiceless and the oppressed. His work has made a significant impact on the lives of countless people.
